

Inaugural Big Sky AI Roundtable Brings Industry and Thought Leaders to Bozeman

Event Includes Industry Keynotes, Youth Panels and Donation to Girls Who Code

BOZEMAN, MT, UNITED STATES, September 19, 2024 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Seasoned financial services industry veteran Michael Partnow in partnership with Digital Wealth News (DWN), a multi-tiered media platform spotlighting news, thought leadership, partner content, wealth management and fintech news, along with its AI&Finance content platform, today announced the inaugural Big Sky | AI Roundtable will be held Oct. 23-24 at the historic Baxter Hotel in Bozeman, Montana.

The invitation only event kicks off with a cocktail party and fireside chat with conference co-host Michael Partnow, and Lori Hardwick, Senior Strategic Advisor of Genstar Capital. Ms. Hardwick also currently serves as the board chair of Vestwell and Docupace and is a board director at Orion, Cetera and Cerity Partners.

The next day during breakfast, co-host Cindy Taylor, Co-Founder and Publisher of DWN/ AI&Finance, will introduce a unique AI visual presentation. Following, Julie O'Brien & Steve Fogle, Co-Founders of Hive Science, a Behavioral Intelligence martech company, will lead a discussion on innovation at the intersection of AI/ML, quantitative social psychology & scalable consumer experiences. This will be followed by a panel of college and high school students discussing their views on emerging technology.

"The financial services sector generally, and wealth management specifically, can no longer sit on the sidelines of the AI revolution," explained Michael Partnow. "Our goal is to facilitate an open conversation to understand better how technology providers and financial services firms can work together to use today's technology to develop tomorrow's solutions."

The event will conclude with a reception to honor Girls Who Code, including a generous donation from the sponsoring companies and participants.

Keynote Presentations and White Papers

Throughout the conference, experts from presenting sponsors JIFFY.ai, Axos Clearing, Fidelity Labs and GreenLine Consultants will host keynote addresses on specific applications of AI within the financial services sector. Four white papers will be developed from these presentations and will be made available to the attendees and audience of DWN and AI&F shortly after the conference.

“By making these white papers available to the industry, we aim to provide as many firms as possible with the additional information they need to take full advantage of AI-enabled technologies in their practices,” said Cindy Taylor, Founder of DWN and AI&Finance .

Additional sponsor support was provided by Envestnet, Orion, Docupace and TIFIN AG. Michael Partnow and DWN and AI&F anticipate holding a semi-annual AI Roundtable event, with the next event tentatively planned for Spring 2025 on the East Coast.
