The expansion underscores the firm's dedication to meeting the escalating demand from U.S. clients seeking expert advice on international residency and citizenship solutions.

Latitude Group Expands with New Denver Office to Meet Growing Demand for Alternative Residency and Citizenship by Investment Solutions.

Latitude Group's expansion into Colorado aligns with its mission of offering personalized, in-person advisory services to meet the growing demand from U.S. citizens exploring Golden Visas or alternative citizenship options in Europe and the Caribbean.

Americans are increasingly exploring alternative citizenship and residency options to provide greater flexibility for themselves and their families.”

Heidi Finn of Latitude Group

Leading the Denver office will be Ms. Heidi Finn, a highly experienced professional with extensive expertise in residency and citizenship planning. She holds dual citizenship, has travel experiences in over 130 countries, and brings extensive expertise to the role. Under her leadership, the office will deliver expert guidance and personalized strategies to help clients manage the complexities of international mobility.

"Americans are increasingly exploring alternative citizenship and residency options to provide greater flexibility for themselves and their families," says Finn. "Americans are looking to secure Golden Visas and Citizenships from countries less vulnerable to geopolitical and global crises, as well as seeking to enhance their SMILE: Security, Mobility, Insurance protection, Lifestyle, and Education or Employment opportunities. As a result, inquiries from the U.S. market have surged 300% year-over-year.”

The Denver office will act as a hub for Latitude Group’s full spectrum of services including bespoke residency and citizenship planning and international property. This strategic expansion into Colorado is designed to bolster the firm’s capacity to provide innovative and effective solutions tailored to the needs of U.S. clients pursuing global mobility.

The official grand opening of the Denver office is September 26, 2024 with events in Aspen on September 24th and Boulder on September 25th.

Chris Willis, Managing Partner and Head of the Americas & Caribbean, region will also be in attendance.
