

With the Mallee Elemental™ 65 tree guard, Arborgreen is changing the way Australia grows 100% recyclable. 65% less plastic. No compromises.

MOUNT BARKER, AUSTRALIA, September 23, 2024 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Arborgreen, a leader in innovative tree protection and environmental sustainability, proudly announces the launch of the Mallee Elemental™ 65 Tree Guard. Available exclusively through Arborgreen, this new product redefines the future of tree protection, balancing durability with sustainability and setting a new standard in reducing plastic waste.

The Mallee Elemental™ 65 tree guard is at work protecting seedlings - a no compromise alternative to traditional plastic guards.

The Mallee Elemental™ 65 Tree Guard, made from UNiCOR, an advanced fluted material, contains 65% less plastic than traditional tree guards and is fully recyclable through a national network of depots. Tested and proven to perform without the compromises typically seen in other sustainable solutions, this tree guard demonstrates Arborgreen's commitment to reducing environmental impact by reusing materials and minimizing the need for new raw resources.

Our new Mallee Elemental™ 65 Tree Guard is a testament to our mission of delivering innovative solutions that are as good for the environment as they are for seedling protection.”

Marc Jarvis, Head of Marketing, Arborgreen

“Time is the most significant cost in any project, which is why traditional fluted plastic tree guards have remained popular—they are quick to install, durable, and reusable,” said Jason Gooden, Managing Director of Arborgreen. “With the Mallee Elemental™ 65 Tree Guard, we have created a product that offers the same benefits but with 65% less plastic. It’s a product that not only protects trees but also protects the future."

Arborgreen's focus on sustainability doesn't stop with the Mallee Elemental™ 65 Tree Guard. The company is already working on future innovations to further reduce environmental impact without compromising on product reliability.

Arborgreen is the exclusive distributor of the Mallee Elemental™ 65 tree guard - the better way to grow

Marc Jarvis, Arborgreen's Head of Marketing, added, "This new product exemplifies our mission of creating solutions that are as good for the planet as they are for protecting seedlings. It's a step forward in rethinking how we approach tree protection."

In line with the Australian Government's "Growing a Better Australia" initiative, which aims to plant one billion trees over the next decade, using the Mallee Elemental™ 65 Tree Guard could significantly reduce plastic waste. If 10 million trees were planted with these guards, Australia would reduce plastic use by 650 tonnes.
