EINPresswire.com/ -- FleetKart Air Cargo, a leading name in global air cargo, surface freight, and courier services, is thrilled and extremely pleased to announce the launch of its newly developed and designed website, which is concerned with improving operational efficiency. The new website is focused on completely revolutionizing the way of handling client data, tracking procedures, operations, and other management processes.

When you have a large customer base, you might probably make some errors or miss out on things when handling the entire data manually. Considering this, a website is definitely a necessity!”

Vikash Singh, Director, FleetKart Air Cargo

The cargo and logistics sector is a highly competitive field that is evolving constantly. With new technological advances happening regularly and changes in the needs and preferences of different customers, it has become challenging for logistics services providing companies to maintain a competitive edge and stay one step ahead of their market competitors. Considering this, Fleetkart's new website perfectly aligns with the industry requirements.

With the help of Dart Digital Agency, a very well known web design company in Delhi, FleetKart Air Cargo was able to launch an immersive and highly functional, visually pleasing website. Furthermore, the company is still in between the process of adding some new services along with high quality content on the new website. This will be updated as soon as the services are finalized and the content is approved.

Vikas Singh, The Director of FleetKart Air Cargo, stated that 'the freight industry is constantly evolving. A lot of technological advances are happening on a regular basis. Considering this scenario, it was becoming very tough for us to keep pace with the changing technology. Hence, we decided to hire Dart Digital Agency and opted for their cargo web design & development services. Launching this website did not only provide us with an online presence but also helped us enhance the efficiency and accuracy of our work. At present, we have minimized the amount of manual work and are providing our clients with unparalleled cargo services.'

Fleetkart Air Cargo offers reliable, effective, and efficient logistic services to the clients and endeavors above and beyond to become a one stop shop for all services related to air and surface cargo.
