

SCDC Supports WITS to Inspire Houston's Youth Through Literacy

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, September 20, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As the school year progresses, classrooms across Houston are filled with creativity, thanks to a dynamic partnership between teachers and professional writers.

Through Writers in the Schools (WITS), children are discovering the joys of learning, creative expression, and literacy.

Founded by students from the University of Houston's Creative Writing Program, WITS engages students during the school day, in after-school programs, and at summer camps, fostering a lifelong love of writing.

S.H.A.R.E. Community Development Corp (SCDC) proudly supports the mission of WITS by funding efforts to expand its reach across the city, promoting literacy and creative expression.

Early literacy has been shown to be key to both academic and economic success, building the foundation for higher graduation rates, better job opportunities, and increased income. By helping to foster social mobility and reduce poverty, literacy is a driver of both individual and societal progress.

For over 40 years, WITS has been a cornerstone of Houston's educational community, offering programs in more than 25 schools and impacting over 3,000 students each year. WITS works with students from pre-K through 12th grade, placing professional writers alongside teachers to lead workshops that encourage creative expression and performance. SCDC is honored to support WITS' mission, as both organizations are deeply committed to empowering the next generation through education and creativity.
