Dr. Oni-Eseleh

Foundation has made a significant donation of medical supplies to Taconic Innovations Homecare Unit, marking a meaningful step toward enhancing the quality of care for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) and members of our community receiving homecare/CDPAP services from the unit. The donation includes essential items such as PPE, wound care materials, mobility aids, and other critical equipment necessary to support at-home care services.

"We are thrilled to partner with Taconic Innovations to support their outstanding efforts in delivering care to individuals who need it most," said Macauley Gibbons, MPH Program Manager, Community Safety Net Afya Foundation. "Providing these vital supplies aligns with our mission to improve access to essential healthcare services for vulnerable populations."

Taconic Innovations, a leader in providing specialized services to individuals with IDD and non-homecare/CDPAP services, offers a range of care, including residential support, in-home services, and day rehabilitation programs. This donation will directly benefit the Homecare Unit, which serves clients who rely on regular medical care and assistance to maintain their health and independence at home.

"We are deeply grateful to the Afya Foundation for their generous contribution," said Dr. Oni-Eseleh, CEO at Taconic Innovations. "These supplies will not only help our staff deliver safe and effective care but also improve the quality of life for our clients. Support like this allows us to continue fulfilling our mission."

The donation comes at a critical time as healthcare providers across the region face rising costs and increasing service demand. Taconic Innovations plans to distribute the supplies immediately to ensure their clients continue receiving the best possible care.
