

Margaret Tutor's "We're All Just Passing Through" to Take Center Stage at Major Literary Events

Historical and children's stories to captivate audiences at Toronto's Word on the Street and Frankfurt Book Fair.

TORONTO, CANADA, September 24, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Margaret Tutor's evocative historical novel, "We're All Just Passing Through", will be prominently featured at two significant literary events this autumn: The Word on the Street Toronto Books and Magazine Festival and the Frankfurt Book Fair. This compelling novel, which delves into the lives of a sharecropping family in 1920s Arkansas, explores themes of empathy, redemption, and personal transformation.

In "We're All Just Passing Through", Tutor narrates the story of the Ward family, who navigate life as sharecroppers in Dover, Arkansas. Their compassionate intervention with the struggling Cartwright family—left behind while Mr. Cartwright takes a prolonged trip—leads to a story of emotional healing and moral reckoning. The harsh reality imposed by Walter Cartwright contrasts with the Wards' kindness, challenging his sons to reconsider their perspectives on life and goodness. Tutor's richly detailed narrative captures the emotional depth
