

Quasi Robotics Announces New Accessory Customizations For Model C2 ARM Robotic Cart

Quasi Robotics announces the launch of a new line of accessories for its flagship Model C2 autonomous mobile cart

FREDERICK, MD, UNITED STATES, October 17, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Quasi Robotics, a leader in autonomous mobile robot (AMR) technology, today announces the launch of a new line of accessories for its flagship Model C2 autonomous mobile cart. These add-on accessories allow businesses to tailor their material transport solutions to the unique needs of their workflows, improving both security and efficiency.

Model C2 - Extendable Shelf Walls

"We envision a future where autonomous mobile robots seamlessly integrate into every workplace, optimizing workflows and boosting productivity," said Tom Dolan, Sales Director at Quasi. "Just as the Model C2 itself prioritizes simplicity and efficiency, these new accessories enable customization to more precise needs, without adding unnecessary complexity,"
