

An Intervention and Solution for Korea's National Emergency and More

A Multifaceted Intervention for Low Birthrate, Suicide, Low Engagement, Division in Government, Medical Strike Crisis, and More

SEOUL, GYEONGGI PROVINCE, SOUTH KOREA, October 2, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- On June 19, 2024, President Yoon Seok-yeol of the Republic of Korea declared a “demographic national emergency” due to the declining population. The country faces a significantly low birth rate alongside an ageing population.

The President vowed to activate a comprehensive response to address the low birthrate.

A comprehensive solution that works, is what Korea’s government can get from the Maxwell Leadership Institute (MLI). The advanced leadership research organization provided an introduction about the organization and it multifaceted intervention to a Secretary of President Yoon. At the time of the declaration of the national emergency, the Maxwell Leadership Institute (MLI) was already building infrastructure to address the nation’s suicide rate, low engagement, division in government, and youth giving up on finding meaningful work while making leadership the best it can be.

The best in leadership towards the best in life, and the best in life towards the best in leadership; to improve lives and livelihoods globally.”

Kenneth-Maxwell Nance

The institute has a deep understanding of the nation’s issues and does not simply look at the symptoms but deeply examines the root causes. The founder of the multifaceted intervention states simply, “An ounce of prevention greatly exceeds more than a pound of cure.” All too often, governments treat symptoms and not the cause. The MLI intervention will exceed anything the nation has attempted for nearly two decades. It will save lives and increase hope while facilitating the greatest possible potential in all citizens. The outcomes will place the miracle nation amidst the admiration of the world.

“Throwing money at a problem” has been used as a panacea, but experience has proven that it never works as planned and never produces the desired results, as evidenced by the 383 trillion won spent over the past 18 years to increase the birth rate. However, the rate fell from 1.13 births in 2006 to 0.76 in 2024 (early) and a projected 0.68 by the end of this year. Generations of psychologists have also concluded that simply “throwing money at the problem” is a flawed idea that is doomed to failure.

The Maxwell Leadership Institute, a foreign-invested company has come to Korea with its U.S. Patent Pending multifaceted intervention that works at the heart of the problem declared as a national emergency, while intervening in the world’s fourth and first highest suicide rates in the world according to the World Health Organization (WHO) and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), respectively. A multifaceted intervention premised on leadership’s grand theory, also can mitigate Korea’s portion of the $8.3 trillion global output problem due to low engagement, crisis in Korean hospitals, injustice, and a divided government.

There is a forecast that the MLI intervention will greatly exceed the outcomes of King Sejong when the king directed the teaching of the Hangeul alphabet to all citizens, alongside his emphasis on scholarship and education. As a result, Korea is one of the most educated countries in the world. Now Korea has an opportunity to be one of the most productive, and happiest countries in the world, thus becoming a miracle nation again.

The founder of the multifaceted intervention, Kenneth-Maxwell Nance, an award-winning leadership scholar-practitioner (scientist), was recently covered by Forbes, USA Today, the UAE Khaleej Times, Kuwait Arab Times, and various other publications. This thought leader’s discovery addresses international concerns, from mental health to environmental sustainability. He invested in the Republic of Korea over the years and now seeks to make a priceless investment by intervening in critical national issues that have attenuated the Republic of Korea’s progress.

Promotes the best growth for all children.

Prevents varying degrees of neurosis.
