PALM SPRINGS, CA, UNITED STATES, September 26, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- My Life with

I don't need to be validated by American Idol. I validate me!"

George Steeves

Asperger's, an inspiring new documentary about self-acceptance and resilience, will screen as an official selection at the Cinema Diverse LGBTQ+ Film Festival this Saturday, September 28th, at 2:15 PM. The screening will be held at Cinema Diverse, 2300 East Baristo Road, Palm Springs, California 92262.

The film follows George Steeves, a queer man living with Asperger's Syndrome, as he turns his challenges into artistic triumph. Known for being a nine-time American Idol reject, George transforms his experiences into the acclaimed one-person show Magic 8-Ball: My Life with Asperger's. Directed by former Motown backup singers Penni Wilson and Crystal Wilson Blackmon, George's journey from bullied outsider to award-winning performer is a moving testament to self-validation and creativity. His story resonates with audiences, culminating in his defiant on-stage declaration: "I don't need to be validated by American Idol. I validate me!"

Over five years, the documentary captures George's transformation through candid interviews, behind-the-scenes footage, and live performances, offering viewers an intimate look into the life of someone embracing their uniqueness despite adversity.
