

Quorum Cyber Teams With Microsoft's Democracy Forward To Reveal New U.S. Presidential Election Cybersecurity Threats

Complimentary, Live Webinar Discusses How Cybercriminals and Nation-State Actors Are More Sophisticated

TAMPA, FL, UNITED STATES, September 26, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Quorum Cyber – with offices in Edinburgh, UK, Ontario, Canada, and Goodyear, Arizona – today announced its webinar addressing the escalating cyber threats surrounding the November U.S. presidential election. Experts from Microsoft's Democracy Forward team and Quorum Cyber's Incident Response and Threat Intelligence teams will discuss current cybercriminal and nation-state actor attempts to undermine democratic processes and the integrity of elections. The live event will be held on Wednesday, October 9th, from 3:30 – 4:30 PM BST / 10:30 – 11:30 AM ET. The insights shared are essential for anyone concerned with securing the future of democratic elections. Attendees may register online at <https://bit.ly/47HpZDV> or visit www.quorumcyber.com/events/.

Cyber threats to the U.S. presidential election and the electoral system pose significant risks, potentially undermining public trust and influencing outcomes. But how can democracy be defended against increasingly sophisticated cybercriminals and more frequent cyberattacks?

The panel of cybersecurity experts will discuss the evolving nature of cyber threats in the context of U.S. elections, recent incidents, case studies highlighting cyber threats, and strategies for worldwide election security. In addition, attendees will:

- Learn from experts about effective measures to protect the electoral process.

- Engage in meaningful discussions with cybersecurity professionals monitoring U.S. election threats.

- Stay informed about the latest trends and developments in election security.
