

VINCENT J. TOMEO RETURNS ON THE GLOBAL BOOK FAIR CIRCUIT WITH HIS 80-PAGE LITERARY NON-FICTION BOOK

“My Cemetery Friends” is back in the global limelight, set to be highlighted at the Frankfurt Book Fair and The Word on the Street Toronto.

TORONTO, CANADA, September 27, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Celebrated poet and author Vincent J. Tomeo is no stranger to the international literary stage. Having previously held a book signing at the LA Times Festival of Books and with his work featured at the London Book Fair, Tomeo continues to make his mark at renowned global book fairs. This fall, his book, “My Cemetery Friends: A Garden of Encounters at Mount Saint Mary in Queens, New York”, will be featured during The 76th Frankfurt Book Fair and The Word On The Street Toronto’s 35th Annual Book and Magazine Festival.

In “My Cemetery Friends: A Garden of Encounters at Mount Saint Mary in Queens, New York”, Tomeo masterfully guides readers on a contemplative journey through life’s fleeting moments, all while walking the tranquil paths of a cemetery. Serving as a tribute to military personnel, loved ones, and even the forgotten, this 80-page book delves into themes of connection, compassion, and the six degrees of separation, illustrating how even the briefest encounters can spark a chain of meaningful experiences.

Tomeo’s participation in global literary events has long underscored his international influence. Following his appearances at two of the most prominent book fairs earlier this year, his presence at both the Toronto and Frankfurt fairs this fall further cements his standing in contemporary literature.
