

Builderbud Launches Project Management Software Created by a Woman Contractor for the Construction Industry

BuilderBud is a groundbreaking project management and communication app that simplifies remodeling for contractors, designers, and homeowners.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, October 1, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- BuilderBud is a groundbreaking project management and communication app that simplifies remodeling for contractors, designers, and homeowners. Founded by General Contractor Erica Anenberg, BuilderBud tackles daily communication challenges in the construction industry. The platform is so user-friendly that almost anyone can onboard, and it's priced affordably with a project-based subscription model. Whether you're a homeowner, interior designer, or general contractor, BuilderBud has you covered. "As a woman contractor, my biggest asset is my ability to manage homeowner relationships. The construction tech out there right now is falling short of helping me solve a lot of the client pain points, which is why we created BuilderBud," said Anenberg.

Key Features Include:

- Task management with punch lists
- Daily logs with photos
- Project-based chat communication
- Homeowner relationship tools
- Simple invoicing and change order approvals

BuilderBud is unique not just for its ease of use but because it's created by a woman contractor, offering an industry perspective that competitors lack.
