

Board Printing Company Introduces A High-Quality Customisable Signage Solution for Modern Market

London's Board Printing Company, led by Ravi Patel, offers eco-friendly, high-quality customisable signage to enhance brand visibility for all businesses.

LONDON, ENGLAND, UNITED KINGDOM, October 1, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The demand for signage continues to grow, whether it is construction sites, real estate, or retail stores. It's an impactful advertising solution for a brand to increase its presence, utilising the foot traffic and promoting the business.

UK-based Board Printing Company, led by Ravi Patel, positioned themselves as a revolutionising signage solution with their innovative and eco-friendly perspex signs and hoarding boards. From catering to a wide range of small businesses to large ones, the company aims to provide cost-effective signage with no compromise on quality.

While digital marketing still dominates, the power of physical advertising and traditional print is not completely lost. The company is harnessing the signage to convert the brand message properly and effectively.

Aligning that with customisable options to match the requirements of the brand while ensuring a maximum impact on the environment. Their estate agent boards balance being a highly functional, powerful branding tool and presenting a professional image to increase curiosity and visibility among the audience.

Meet The Man Behind The Creative Approach Of Board Printing Solutions

Transform Your Brand's Visibility With Our customisable Signage Solutions

"In the digital landscape, getting lost among the crowded advertising is easy. It's not the case with board printing. This is often the first thing that a potential buyer will notice. My vision is to make our signs impactful, creative, and tailored to the requirements. Also, to give leverage to foot traffic, effective promotion and be more interactive instead of a boring & repetitive approach." Ravi Patel

The founder of the company, Ravi Patel, began his journey with his passion for helping the business convey its brand message. He has also been interested in visual communication, recognising the potential of the printing industry. This led him to find a solution to the trend and tailor-made service for different business sizes and individual client requirements.

Under his leadership, the business focuses on providing a combination of innovation and eco-friendly, effective solutions for the following reasons.

Our mission is to empower through our board printing solution, turning it into a power tool that not just captures the attention, but converts the curiosity into a profitable action”
