Luxury Without Compromise

The armored Rolls-Royce Cullinan retains every aspect of its luxurious essence, from its hand-stitched leather interior to its signature aesthetic appeal. Alpine Armoring seamlessly integrates advanced ballistic materials, including reinforced steel and multi-layered bullet-resistant glass, into the body of the vehicle. This ensures the occupants are fully protected without sacrificing the opulence and craftsmanship for which Rolls-Royce is renowned.

"The custom-armored Rolls-Royce Cullinan is the pinnacle of ultra luxury and unmatched safety that is now offered by Alpine Armoring to a few select VIP clients," said Fred Khoroushi, CEO of Alpine Armoring. "This highly skilled process entails a sophisticated level of design & engineering combined with meticulous and painstaking processes to achieve near perfection at the end. In armor-manufacturing this exotic SUV, we apply the latest technology in both opaque and transparent ballistic material. It all speaks volume about Alpine Armoring's stature in the luxury vehicle armoring industry that discerning people of unique taste and high expectation of quality expect and deserve."

Unmatched Protection

Alpine Armoring's armored Rolls-Royce Cullinan offers comprehensive protection against ballistic and explosive threats. The vehicle's body is reinforced with lightweight ballistic steel, while its bullet-resistant glass is designed to prevent spalling, ensuring that no glass shrapnel enters the cabin during an attack. The protection extends to critical areas such as the doors, roof, and undercarriage, providing 360-degree security for the vehicle's occupants.

The integration of these materials does not disrupt the Cullinan's luxurious design; rather, it enhances the vehicle's capability to offer a safe and secure environment while maintaining the refined elegance that defines Rolls-Royce.

Performance Meets Safety

Despite the added weight from the armoring, the armored Rolls-Royce Cullinan continues to deliver superior performance. Alpine Armoring has upgraded the vehicle's suspension and braking systems to accommodate the additional weight, ensuring the Cullinan handles with precision and ease. The vehicle's powerful V12 engine provides ample acceleration, allowing drivers to escape potential threats quickly and confidently.

In addition to its ballistic protection, the armored Cullinan is equipped with advanced security features, including run-flat tires, GPS tracking, and reinforced battery compartments. These enhancements ensure that the vehicle remains fully functional and reliable, even in the most extreme situations.

A Custom Experience

Alpine Armoring offers complete customization for the Rolls-Royce Cullinan, allowing clients to tailor the vehicle to their personal preferences and security needs. Whether it's custom interior finishes, advanced communication systems, or additional security features, Alpine ensures that each armored Cullinan meets the highest standards of luxury and protection.
