Dr. Steven M. Lorch, Pediatric Cardiologist, Begins Seeing Patients in Katy, TX

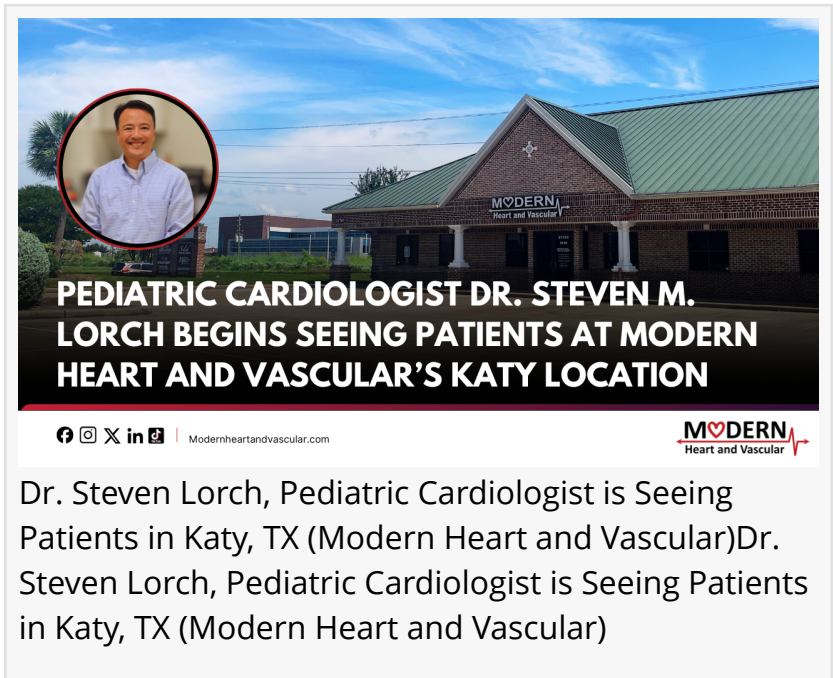

KATY, TX, UNITED STATES, October 21, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Modern Heart and Vascular announces that Dr. Steven M. Lorch, a renowned pediatric cardiologist with over 20 years of experience, is now seeing patients at the Katy location at 21703 Kingsland Blvd, Ste 100, Katy, TX 77450.

Dr. Lorch specializes in treating a wide range of pediatric cardiovascular conditions and is available to see patients at this state-of-the-art facility. He brings a wealth of expertise in pediatric cardiology, caring for fetuses, infants, children, and adolescents with cardiovascular or cardiac abnormalities. His clinical focus includes congenital heart defects, heart muscle disorders, rhythm disturbances, and pediatric hypertension. Additionally, he is highly skilled in non-invasive imaging techniques such as transthoracic echocardiography (TTE), transesophageal echocardiography (TEE), fetal echocardiography, and myocardial strain analysis.

With an emphasis on patient education, Dr. Lorch works closely with families to provide clear guidance and support for managing pediatric heart conditions. His compassionate, patient-centered approach ensures that each child receives the best possible care tailored to their unique needs.

Dr. Lorch's medical background is extensive. He earned his medical degree from Emory University School of Medicine and completed his pediatric residency at Baylor College of Medicine. He then pursued a fellowship in pediatric cardiology at the Washington University/B-JH/SLCH Consortium. Prior to joining Modern Heart and Vascular, Dr. Lorch served as the assistant head of the Pediatric Echocardiography Laboratory at the University of Texas Health
