“Our mission remains undaunted as we march toward a future where every man, woman, and child can experience true freedom and equality in this great country we call America,” said NAACP Irving Branch President, Tony Grimes. “By coming together and sharing our gifts and treasures, we help to shape a brighter tomorrow.”

The event will feature a keynote address by Maurice Walker, a retired Irving ISD Administrator, who will provide valuable insights on education and leadership. This year also marks the 70th Anniversary of Brown v. Board of Education, a landmark decision in the fight for equality in education, which will be honored during the luncheon.

In addition, the luncheon will highlight the Jerlene Miller Scholarship, and recognize the hard work of local high school scholars. Proceeds from the event will benefit the NAACP Irving Branch's Scholarship and Community Outreach Programs, which aim to bridge the gap between today's youth and tomorrow's leaders by providing educational opportunities and resources to local students.

Grimes, who is a pillar in the community and someone who understands the impact of strong leadership says, "We are committed to teaching and educating both young minds and seasoned believers in the importance of voting and civil engagement. This event is not just a celebration but a call to action – to ensure our voices are heard and to continue to fight for justice and equality."

Publicist, Desirae L. Benson who is familiar with some of the great initiatives taking place within the Irving Branch NAACP added, "At this year's Freedom Fund Luncheon, we are not just celebrating our rich history of advocacy, we are igniting a renewed commitment to unity and progress. Let us gather, inspire, and empower one another as we pave the way for future generations in our quest for a truly inclusive society."
