

Aivia Inc. Announces Communikit Apps Now Available For Municipalities

Community-specific mobile applications put local news, events, and emergency alerts right in the users' pockets.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, CANADA, October 8, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- After recently celebrating the acquisition of 20% market share among First Nations and Tribal organizations across Canada, Aivia Inc. (the creators of the Communikit mobile app platform) is pleased to announce: Communikit will now be available for Canadian municipalities.

The advertisement features a smartphone and a smartwatch side-by-side. Both devices display a purple emergency alert notification that reads "SNOR ALERT! SNOR Community wide alert has been issued. Tap for more details." To the right of the devices, the text reads "So your users never miss an update" in large bold letters, followed by "Putting community information in users pockets — one touch away from content at any time." in smaller text. The "COMMUNIKIT" logo is in green at the bottom right. Below the image, a caption states: "Communikit connects administration with community members, no matter where they are in the world."/>

So your users never miss an update

Putting community information in users pockets — one touch away from content at any time.

COMMUNIKIT

Communikit connects administration with community members, no matter where they are in the world.

Municipalities and Tribal organizations face many similar challenges, including the need for instant communication of emergency notices, dissemination of information to community members, and facilitation of private communication between app users and administration. Given these similarities, the platform is expected to have great appeal for municipalities to solve common communication issues with citizens.

Communikit offers features such as emergency alerts, news updates, events, job postings, documents, and forms, putting vital information right in the pockets of community members. With just a simple tap, users can access a single channel of uninterrupted information, ensuring they never miss an update again.

The Communikit team plans to leverage their extensive experience in serving local governments since 2018, along with the careful fine-tuning of the software and service model, to help administrators and communications staff in municipalities realize maximum value for their citizens and community members.

The Communikit team looks forward to initiating pilot projects with key communities and further refining the platform to better serve their clients. Interested communities are encouraged to reach out to sales@aivia.ca for more information!
