Inclusion in the 2024 Learning Management System Company Watch List is based on four key criteria: the breadth, quality, and advancement of features, capabilities, and analytics; industry visibility, innovation and impact in the learning technologies training market; client and user representation; and business performance and growth.

“The companies chosen for our LMS Watch List provide quality features and solutions to create an engaging learning environment for all users,” said Tom Whelan, director of corporate research at Training Industry, Inc. “By utilizing technologies such as adaptive learning, AR/VR content, AI social and collaboration tools and more, these providers can engage both their learners and admins at every step of the way.”

The 2024 Learning Management System Company Watch List is intended to help buyers of training services evaluate LMS providers representing emerging or unique strengths or capabilities. “We are delighted to be recognized for the innovation, capabilities, growth, and client focus of TraineryLMS.
