

New Albany LC Rheumatology Office Welcomes Dr. Charles Moore to Staff

The Central Kentucky-founded rheumatology and infusion center is excited to offer Dr. Charles Moore's services to Southern Indiana residents.

NEW ALBANY, IN, UNITED STATES, October 14, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- When the New Albany, Indiana branch of Lake Cumberland Rheumatology opened, it was the first expansion of the rheumatology and auto-immune care company outside of Kentucky. It aimed to expand the treatment area and provide necessary medical services to those with rheumatologic conditions. With their success, they have welcomed a new rheumatologist, Dr. Charles Moore.

Dr. Moore brings several years of experience in different medical fields to LCR. He began his medical career attending medical school and completing his residency training at the University of Louisville. For several years, he served as a hospitalist in Evansville, IN before completing his subspecialty training in rheumatology at Vanderbilt University. Prior to joining LC Rheumatology, he was on staff in the rheumatology division at the University of Louisville and with Norton Healthcare.
