We all make sacrifices, but at what point is the cost too high? Kordan, Alicanth, and Stelth face such a dilemma.”

Author David Nos

As in the beloved prequel in the Kordan series, ‘Kordan the Wizard,’ readers are again treated to original music sprinkled throughout the book that brings content alive, courtesy of David Nos and his prolific music writing partner, Robert Agner.

The writing is charming to read, yet incredibly unique in its myriad of complex, genius fantasy and fantastical worlds, gods, feuds, and dark battles. From loyalty to royalty; romance to never-seen-before dark realities, and the greatest bond of its time: that between a wizard and the last dragon.

“We all make sacrifices, but at what point is the cost too high? Kordan, Alicanth, and Stelth face such a dilemma. In The FINAL WAR of Wizards and Dragons the price of sacrifice may not be an option. Their choice may have already been made,” said author David Nos.

“The music throughout the book, accessible by phone camera or QR app, allows your ears to participate in bringing the story and characters to life,” added Robert Agner.

About David Nos

David Nos is a printer by trade and a musician by degree. He has always loved to write. Most of the songs he and Robert Agner have written over 50 years are musical stories. After testing his writing skills in a local writing contest and winning, David Nos wrote his first novel in the series, 'Kordan the Wizard' and with his songwriting partner Robert Agner, decided to add music, accessible in the content of the book via QR codes. Today they have the first Fantasy/music hybrid in their unique offering Kordan the Wizard. Now, the duo has continued that tradition with The FINAL WAR of Wizards and Dragons.

About Robert Agner

Robert Agner has been writing music with David Nos for decades. Along with Dave's wife Kim, they have been performing original music for many years, in several venues, and in front of both small and large audiences. Recently, Robert Agner and David Nos created music that is accessible by QR code that is printed in the pages of Dave's first novel, 'Kordan the Wizard' and now available in book 2 of the series, in 'The FINAL WAR of Wizards and Dragons.'

With this unique concept, the music and lyrics add a special dimension when reading the story. The music can be purchased separately and is available on most online music platforms.
