and-wife team behind the company, bring their personal touch to every aspect of the business. "We're not just a painting company; we're a family dedicated to helping other families create their dream homes," says Troy Cullin.

The Cullins are proud parents to their son, Samuel, with another baby on the way, adding to the joy and energy they bring to their work. Even their two dogs, Max and Jarvis, are considered part of the TNC Painting family, embodying the warmth and friendliness that clients have come to expect.

"Our family values are at the core of how we operate," Nicole adds. "We treat every client's home as if it were our own, ensuring that each project receives the highest level of care and attention to detail."

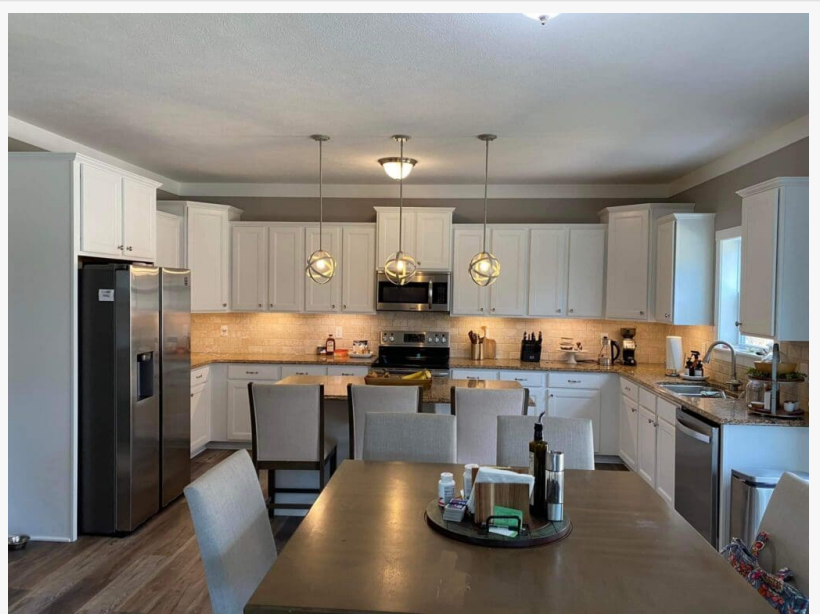

A Commitment to Community and Faith

Beyond their dedication to their craft, the Cullins are deeply involved in their local community. They are active members of Ada Bible Church, where Troy assists in the tech booth and Nicole works with the high school youth group. This commitment to faith and community service infuses their business practices with a sense of purpose and integrity.

"Our involvement in the church and community keeps us grounded and reminds us of the importance of treating others with kindness and respect," Troy explains. "These values translate directly into how we interact with our clients and approach our work."
