

Distributed Energy Clearinghouse® and 1GridPower™ Create Strategic Advisory Agreement

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, October 16, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 1GridPower is pleased to announce a Strategic Advisory Agreement for analytics and advisory support from Distributed Energy Clearinghouse®, a provider of distributed energy analytics and energy management services, for 1GridPower's planned investments in advanced energy storage systems. 1GridPower specializes in creating small, smart power systems called "nanogrids" for deployment at scale in residential applications.

"Distributed Energy Clearinghouse®, with deep expertise and advanced analytics for distributed energy systems, including behind-the-meter energy storage systems was able to rapidly analyze our investment and market operations business model to support our battery investment hypothesis and go-to-market plan" said John Terrill, Head of Business Development for 1GridPower.

Richard Zdunkewicz, co-Founder and CEO of Distributed Energy Clearinghouse® commented that it is seeing rapid uptake in battery energy storage systems on electric distribution systems, both behind and in front of the meter. "Batteries are now enhancing power grid resilience, and we expect that to accelerate and expand dramatically as storage densities improve and the organized power markets introduce products to reward that resilience" said Zdunkewicz.

Distributed Energy Clearinghouse® co-Founder and Head of Analytics, Ryk Holden commented that "1GridPower has an interesting and compelling offering for the Texas market. Their value proposition appears to be a win-win-win for consumers, the Texas power grid and the company.”

About 1GridPower

1GridPower specializes in creating residential nanogrids.
