Oman, often likened to Dubai for its rapid growth, is emerging as a key real estate hub in the Middle East. With major investments in infrastructure and tourism, the government is fueling demand for properties. The roadshow offers investors a chance to explore this market and connect with industry leaders.

Oman: A New Investment Frontier

Oman's rich cultural heritage and breathtaking landscapes are now complemented by a rapidly modernizing economy. The government's efforts to diversify beyond oil have led to an influx of real estate developments and investor-friendly policies, including tax advantages and secure legal frameworks for foreign investors.

Oman's market is likened to Dubai in its early stages, offering a unique window of opportunity for those looking to invest early in high-growth areas.

Featured Projects by DarGlobal

During the roadshow, attendees will be introduced to exclusive real estate projects by DarGlobal, a prominent developer known for luxury residential, commercial, and mixed-use properties.

These projects represent some of the most attractive opportunities in Oman's evolving market. Investors will have access to personalized consultations with experts from DarGlobal, Home in Dubai, and Kingston & Hamilton, allowing for tailored investment advice and strategies.

Insights for Private and Institutional Investors

The roadshow will offer presentations on key topics, including:

Tax Benefits: An overview of Oman's advantageous tax policies.

Legal Protections: Insights into the secure legal framework for foreign property ownership.

Market Growth: An analysis of Oman's expanding real estate sector and its potential for high returns.

Business investors will also have the chance to meet with DarGlobal's CEO and top executives to discuss large-scale commercial projects, while the Ambassador of Oman will provide insight into the government's support for foreign investment.
