

Panorama Consulting Group Reveals the Top ERP Systems for Data-Driven Organizations

Panorama's Experience Suggests That These ERP Systems Could Improve Organizations' Decision-Making

DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, October 22, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The business transformation and ERP consulting firm, Panorama Consulting Group, recently released an independent report highlighting the ERP systems that the consulting team frequently evaluates for clients.

"Our ERP consultants have worked closely with a variety of vendors during software selection and implementation, so we've come to understand which vendors are meeting the expectations modern organizations," said Chris Devault, Senior Manager of Client Services at Panorama. "The report includes systems for SMBs and enterprise-sized organizations across industries."

In addition to providing an overview of ten ERP vendors, the report explores common ERP implementation challenges as well as notable business technology trends.

"Organizations wanting to make data-driven decisions need ERP software that can integrate seamlessly with other business systems and provide real-time, AI-driven insights," said Devault. "This intelligent, interconnected technology is more accessible than ever thanks to innovations such as AI as a service, analytics as a service, and low-cost sensors."
