“Still family-owned, we've grown since our start in 1934. Our automated production lines can package up to 85

bags per minute, ensuring efficient and timely fulfillment of orders,” said Sam Henselijn, CEO of L'Orenta Nuts.

Proud of the expansion, Sam continued by saying “We also offer Retail Ready Packaging (RRP), or Shelf Ready Packaging (SRP), which allows businesses to easily stock products directly on the shelf in attractive, display-ready cartons. This is ideal for retail environments where presentation and convenience are key.”

Private Label Manufacturing Using Strict Food Safety Standards

L'Orenta is SQF-certified, adhering to the strictest food safety standards. The company uses metal detectors and check weighers in its production processes to ensure accuracy and quality control. A check weigher is a scale that verifies each package's weight, ensuring it meets exact specifications before it reaches the customer. If a package is outside the designated weight range, it is automatically removed from the line, guaranteeing consistency across all products.
