

Film Poster

"We cannot ignore the devastating impact that the preschool-to-prison pipeline is having on our children, especially those from communities that are consistently devalued," said Karen "Dr. K" Baptiste, Film Director of Preschool to Prison. "Through 'Preschool to Prison,' we aim to spark a much-needed conversation about the urgent need for education reform, criminal justice reform, and to end the educational lynching perpetuating this cycle. Children can be held accountable without having to experience jail or prison for every infraction."

These stories underscore the urgency of reimagining disciplinary practices and prioritizing holistic approaches that nurture children's growth and development rather than pushing them into a cycle of criminalization.

"Preschool to Prison" serves as a wake-up call for policymakers, educators, parents, and communities to come together and demand transformative change. The film invites viewers to engage in constructive dialogue, advocate for policy reform, and work collectively to dismantle the structures and policies perpetuating the cycle of oppression and injustice.

"Preschool to Prison" is now streaming on Amazon Prime Video.
