including naturalization. Naturalization is the formal process of becoming a U.S. citizen.

Military members and their families make many sacrifices, and the U.S. government offers special citizenship benefits and services for military members and their families to show its appreciation. Some of these benefits include:

- Expedited naturalization for spouses of active-duty military members stationed abroad.

This allows spouses to waive the physical presence and continuous residence requirements for naturalization.

- Naturalization or citizenship for children of service members stationed abroad. Children may apply for naturalization without traveling to the United States.

- Citizenship survivorship benefits for spouses and children of deceased immigrant military members.

This includes citizenship if the service member died from an injury or disease caused by their military service.
