RANCHO CUCAMONGA, CA, UNITED STATES, October 29, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Project Boon, in partnership with Inland Empire Health Plan (IEHP) and the City of Fontana, is excited to announce the annual Eat & Be Well event, set to take place on Wednesday, November 27th, at the Cypress Neighborhood Center starting at 11:00 AM.

It is a first-come, first-served event and will run while supplies last.

As in previous years, Eat & Be Well will offer all attendees a hot, traditional Thanksgiving meal and provide complete Thanksgiving meal kits to 300 local families. The event serves as a day of gratitude, bringing together the community to celebrate and support those in need.

This year's entertainment lineup promises to make the day even more memorable. Returning to the stage, The Jam Farmers will delight attendees with live music, while the addition of a live mariachi band will bring a festive new twist to the celebration. Families can also look forward to an expanded Kids Zone, filled with fun activities to engage children of all ages.

True to its name, the "Well" portion of Eat & Be Well will be hosted by 30-40 community partners, offering essential services such as haircuts, dental exams, and a variety of social services aimed at improving the overall health and well-being of attendees.

"Options for Youth Inland Empire Student council enjoys volunteering with Project Boon because it gives us the opportunity to make a meaningful impact in our community. It's not just about organizing events, but about being part of something bigger—where we help others, grow as leaders, and inspire our peers to get involved.

Seeing the positive change we create makes the experience incredibly rewarding," said Gloria Saucedo, Area Teacher II Coach, Options for Youth-IE. Those interested in becoming a vendor or a volunteer can learn more and sign up at www.projectboon.org.
