trust that community banks and credit unions place in us. We're not just building technology – we're empowering these vital institutions to serve their communities better and improve how they connect with their members."

The 2024 list features a select group of firms from various sectors, chosen from thousands of applicants. Eltropy's inclusion in the 2024 Financial Services category highlights its significant impact on credit unions and community banks in the financial sector.

In the past year, Eltropy has continued to innovate, expanding its AI capabilities and introducing new features to its Unified Conversations Platform.

"This recognition speaks to the dedication of our entire team," added Garg. "We're committed to pushing the boundaries of what's possible in digital conversations, ensuring that CFIs can thrive in an era where member expectations and technological capabilities are constantly shifting."
