What Is Driving the Growth of the Transport Cases and Boxes Market?

The growth of the transport cases and boxes market is expected to be significantly driven by rising global trade. The increase in global trade, spurred by free trade agreements and reduced tariffs, underscores the importance of transport cases and boxes for protecting goods during transportation and storage. In December 2022, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) projected the value of global trade to reach a record $32 trillion in 2022, with goods trade increasing by 10% to $25 trillion and services rising by 15% to $7 trillion. Thus, the expansion of global trade is propelling the growth of transport cases and boxes.
