TLG Peterbilt Presents $100,000 Donation to Samaritan's Purse for Hurricane Helene relief efforts.

Samaritan's Purse, headquartered in Boone, North Carolina, is on the ground providing critical aid to those affected by helping families clean up after the storm and distributing generators, blankets, food, water, and more. Additionally, Samaritan's Purse coordinated the largest civilian airlift operation in U.S. history to aid those cut off due to the washed-out roads and bridges. The N.C.-based organization also deployed three disaster relief units – tractor-trailers stocked with tools and equipment. More than 18,000 volunteers have served over 1,200 families in need by mudding out flooded homes, clearing debris, removing downed trees and tarping damaged roofs.

"I'm grateful to TLG Peterbilt for their generous support of our efforts to help in the wake of these recent, deadly hurricanes," said Franklin Graham, president of Samaritan's Purse. "So many people across the Southeast are hurting, overwhelmed, and in desperate need of hope after these devastating storms. We've deployed more than 350 emergency airlifts, delivering generators, heaters, fuel, blankets, Starlinks, and much more. And we're thankful for the thousands of volunteers who have come to roll up their sleeves and help families mud out their homes, clear debris, cut trees, and begin the recovery process. These people have been through so much, and we want to remind them that God loves them and they're not alone."

"We are deeply saddened by the devastation caused by Hurricane Helene," said Glenn Larson, President and CEO of TLG Peterbilt. "Our hearts go out to all those who have been impacted by this storm. We believe it is our responsibility to support local organizations like Samaritan's Purse that are working tirelessly to help people in need with their relief and recovery efforts."
