The Online MSK Diagnostic Video Ultrasound Series goes through six body areas in a comprehensive fashion. This includes hip, knee, shoulder, wrist, ankle and elbow. Learning MSK ultrasound has a significant learning curve and takes repetition. By having unlimited online access to the nineteen videos, providers will be able to continuously review them to master ultrasound skills.

“

This course is comprehensive and presents in an engaging format all major joints, providing step by step methods for evaluation. Ultrasound needs repetition for mastery, providers can review at will!”

David Greene, MD, PhD, MBA

The videos are presented in a picture in picture format, so viewers can see how the probe is situated on the skin and the resulting image. The registered MSK ultrasound trainer, Richard Kates, thoroughly reviews each body area so viewers will know what exactly to look for on a diagnostic scan.

According to R3 CEO David Greene, MD, PhD, MBA, "This course is comprehensive and presents in an engaging format all major joints, and provides step by step methods for evaluating for pathology. With ultrasound needing repetition for mastery, providers can review over and over!"

Currently, R3 Medical Training offers both in-person and the online MSK ultrasound courses. The in-person MSK ultrasound injection courses are also CME accredited, with attendees learning the diagnostic portion and then working with real patients under faculty supervision. Routinely, five star reviews are given for the ultrasound injection course, which occurs over two days.

The MSK ultrasound online training is a fantastic complement to the in-person course. It allows for providers to review ultrasound from anywhere, anytime and obtain CME credits at the same time. The other course offered online
