"You should start seeing leads and getting your first sales within 30 days from when you start working with our digital marketing agency," said a spokesperson for the company. "Our goal is to get your good results as quickly as possible, while growing organically long term. The ads typically bring in new customers pretty soon after launch. Then, on a longer term scale, you can expect about a 300% increase within the first 12 months – this is based on the trend we have seen with almost every business we have worked with."

The new SEO and Google Ads offer operates on a performance-based pricing model, meaning that if Dominate Marketing NZ doesn't deliver results, businesses won't incur any charges. As well as no lock-in contracts meaning businesses can cancel anytime. This approach ensures a no-risk guarantee, allowing clients to invest confidently in their growth.

Dominate Marketing NZ is highly selective in choosing partners, collaborating only with businesses that demonstrate the potential for outstanding results and are eager for growth. For New Zealand-based companies interested in leveraging performance-based Google Ads and SEO marketing to boost turnover, the next step is to book a call with the expert team through the online calendar on the website. This is an opportunity to determine if a business is the right fit for a successful partnership.
