We've always pushed the boundaries in plumbing. We wanted to extend that same innovative mindset to how we recognize our employees, and the Tesla Cybertruck felt like the perfect fit.”

Scott DenHerder

“Our team is the backbone of HPS,” said Scott DenHerder, President of HPS Mechanical, Inc. “We’ve always pushed the boundaries in plumbing with cutting-edge technology, from robotic layouts to automated prefabrication systems. We wanted to extend that same innovative mindset to how we recognize our employees, and the Tesla Cybertruck felt like the perfect fit. It’s not just a truck—it’s a reflection of the forward-thinking culture we’re building.”

The Employee of the Quarter will be chosen based on performance, teamwork, and dedication to HPS’s mission. Nominations will come from peers and supervisors, with a committee selecting the recipient each quarter.

The Tesla Cybertruck, with its futuristic design and cutting-edge electric powertrain, represents the same bold innovation that drives HPS forward. Just as the Cybertruck is reshaping the future of transportation, HPS is pushing the limits in plumbing technology. By offering this iconic vehicle, HPS showcases its commitment to staying ahead of the curve in every aspect of the business.

Local and industry media outlets are invited to contact HPS Mechanical for exclusive interviews and further details on this exciting program. HPS is setting a new standard in employee recognition, and this initiative is just the latest example of how the company continues to lead in both plumbing and innovation.
