

Custom App Development Company VisionTroy Launches Industry's First Equestrian Social Networking Platform Femme Cheval

VisionTroy, a custom web development and AI chatbot firm, recently helped launch the social network Femme Cheval Network, an equestrian social club.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, November 5, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- VisionTroy, a custom app developer, artificial intelligence (AI) chatbot and consultancy firm, recently helped launch the social network Femme Cheval Network, an equestrian social club.

VisionTroy and Femme Cheval partnered to create a modern application with dedicated community resources and social functionality. The Femme Cheval Network revolutionizes the equestrian community by introducing the first dedicated social platform for riders, professionals, and enthusiasts. The network serves as a comprehensive resource for finding stables, trainers, and fellow riders to bring the entire equestrian community together in one seamless, user-friendly experience.

This has been an exciting and collaborative experience with VisionTroy who brought my vision to light in a way I wasn't sure would be possible. I'm looking forward to the next phase.”

Brittany Besier, Founder of Femme Cheval Network

“We are so thrilled at the end result of this groundbreaking social platform,” said the founder of Femme Cheval Network, Brittany Bester. “The intuitive design and user experience of the site is something our community has needed for a long time, and I'm excited to continue building.”

“We had a great experience building a social network from the ground up, and are very proud of the work completed to bring this dream to life,” said Dev Soor, founder of VisionTroy. “Our team’s expertise has the flexibility to build these platforms, integrate AI solutions, build software products, and more.”

About VisionTroy

VisionTroy understands that transforming a vision into a successful web or mobile application requires more than just coding skills.
