I can see public-private partnerships in the future completely revolutionizing the justice system through tools like LAIA, in the same way the internet changed everything forever”

Nawar Kamel, CEO of Experto AI Inc. and a lawyer himself, expressed his excitement regarding the launch, saying:

"Our development process and design has always focused on the unified vision of the empowered lawyer; One who is able to bridge the justice gap and service the greatest number of clients with accurate, fast, and reliable results using AI. I see LAIA Moranda is a significant step towards achieving that goal.”

Kamel highlighted the broader impact of LAIA Moranda on the legal industry:

"The real value is the latent legal market. Studies have indicated it's estimated that over 80% of the civil legal needs of low-income Americans are not addressed. This represents billions of dollars in potential revenue for legal service providers, as well as a fundamental gap in justice. Everyday legal issues related to housing, family law, employment, and consumer matters remain unaddressed. With tools like LAIA Moranda, we can empower legal professionals—especially young lawyers—to tap into this enormous market. A true win/win for everyone. I can see public-private partnerships in the future completely revolutionizing the justice system through tools like LAIA, in the same way the internet changed everything forever."
