

Anderson Valley Presents The International White Wine Festival February 15-16, 2025, Celebrating All Wines White

Wines from around the world will join the celebration this winter

PHILO, CA, UNITED STATES, November 3, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- White wine is hot right now and Anderson Valley revisits the AVA's roots by celebrating all things white wine this year internationally by inviting producers from across the U.S. and around the world to celebrate the white grapes of their respective regions.

The renowned Anderson Valley was founded on the belief that aromatic Alsatian varieties would do well given the area's cool, coastal climate. White grapes like Riesling, Pinot Gris and Gewürztraminer were initially celebrated at Anderson Valley's Annual Alsace Festival every February.

As other grape varieties like Chardonnay and Sauvignon Blanc have exploded in the Anderson Valley, the time has come to celebrate all of the white wine grapes grown in Anderson Valley and from other cool climate regions, including white expressions of a traditionally red grapes like Pinot Noir, which has become popular as White Pinot Noir by limiting skin contact and preserving flavors.

Ramping up our celebration of white wines, Anderson Valley is inviting wines to be poured from wine-growing regions like Willamette Valley, Colorado, California's Central Coast, New Zealand, Alsace, Baja, the Loire Valley, and cooler areas of Italy, to name a few.

About the Anderson Valley Winegrowers Association

The Anderson Valley Winegrowers Association (AVWA) was founded in 1983 – the same year as the appellation. Made up of 25 vineyard, 65 winery and 63 associate members, the nonprofit organization operates with the goal of supporting the region's premier grape growers and wineries, as well as promoting the region's distinguished wines. In addition to acting as a resource for its members, the association aims to better its community by donating funds yearly to local nonprofit organizations.
