Waddoups, who has been setting up payroll and HR systems for more than 20 years, said there were two top reasons why she chose to invest in a Payroll Vault franchise: “the integrity of the Payroll Vault team and the core values that align with my own.”

“Throughout my career I have also delivered payroll and implemented payroll software for companies in a wide range of industries,” she added about her decision to become an entrepreneur. “I enjoyed this experience of helping clients achieve the most out of a solution. I had been considering investing in a business and knew I found the right one when there was a franchise in which I could combine my love of payroll to a business.”

As an entrepreneur, Waddoups also appreciates the franchise’s fully remote operating systems with 24/7 technical monitoring to support continuous operations—without the need for any investment in real estate. Franchise Business Review recently recognized the franchise with seven industry awards, including “Best in Category” and “Top Franchises” as well as top honors in financial return, innovation, culture, and support for women entrepreneurs.

“Payroll Vault’s rapid expansion continues to leverage the untapped experience of financial services professionals across the country to help small and medium-size businesses in every community,” said Oakscale Franchise Partner’s Chief Development Officer Joshua Kovacs, who manages franchise sales for the Payroll Vault brand. “As a franchise sales organization (FSO), we prepare franchisors and franchisees to realize their own legacy.”
