employee management to provide Dental Intelligence users with valuable insights into handling key HR tasks such as onboarding, offboarding, employee performance, and retention. In turn, Dental Intelligence will share its cutting-edge analytics and data optimization strategies with HR for Health clients, helping them make informed business decisions that enhance overall practice efficiency.

"At HR for Health, we're committed to providing dental practices with the tools they need to stay compliant and efficient," said Ali Oromchian, JD, LL.M, CEO and Co-

Founder of HR for Health. "This partnership with Dental Intelligence allows us to extend our reach by offering educational resources that bridge the gap between HR management and business performance insights."

Similarly, Dental Intelligence is excited to collaborate with HR for Health, furthering its mission to help practices harness the power of data to optimize their operations. "By working together with HR for Health, we can provide our clients with an enhanced understanding of both their business metrics and their HR processes, ultimately contributing to more successful, compliant, and productive practices," said Ashley Best, Director of Partnerships at Dental Intelligence.

This partnership underscores the shared values of both companies: to educate, support, and empower dental practices. Together, HR for Health and Dental Intelligence are committed to delivering actionable strategies and resources that allow dental professionals to focus on what matters most—their patients.
