“We started our first Celtic festival in 2011, but St. Augustine was founded in 1565 by Spanish Celts from our sister city, Aviles in Spain, and on March 17 of 1600 and 1601 our colonial Irish vicar led St. Patrick celebrations here!" says Albert Syeles, Romanza-St. Augustine, Inc. Co-Founder and President. "It's a testament to our community, loyal attendees, volunteers, businesses, our board, and a stellar selection of some of the best Celtic musicians in the world. The continued support has allowed us to make each year even better."

General Admission tickets are good for one day and are $20, a $5 savings. Children 12 and under, active duty, and retired military personnel are free.
