-- InjureFree, the leader in sports safety and injury management, is expanding their commitment to athlete safety by partnering with EventConnect, the leading all-in-one sports tournament software for tournament directors, rights holders, destinations and hotels, to offer Sports Medicine Placement services to the 7,000+ events using EventConnect.

We are very excited to keep expanding our product and relationships to continuously provide as many services as possible to our tournament directors”

EventConnect*

InjureFree's Sports Medicine Placement service addresses a significant pain point for event operators by providing recommendations on proper coverage of medical professionals, including Athletic Trainers, at events, and managing all operations for staffing these professionals. The service includes sourcing, contracting, verifying credentials, and training before the event. After the event, InjureFree handles all invoicing and payment as well as issue any tax documents at the end of the year.

“We have seen tremendous growth in our Sports Medicine

Placement service since launching earlier this year,” says Charlie Wund, CEO at InjureFree. “Partnering with EventConnect allows event hosts to access our Sports Medicine specialists, which in turn enhances the world class event management service already provided by EventConnect.”

“We are very excited to keep expanding our product and relationships to continuously provide as many services as possible to our tournament directors” says John D’Orsay, CEO of EventConnect.
