

Corvallis Plastic Surgeon Unveils New Practice Website

Dr. Kevin Day of Brighter Day Cosmetic and Reconstructive Surgery launched a new website featuring detailed information on advanced cosmetic procedures.

CORVALLIS, OR, UNITED STATES, November 7, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Kevin Day, a Corvallis plastic surgeon, is excited to reveal the updated website for his practice, Brighter Day Cosmetic and Reconstructive Surgery. With its custom content and inviting design scheme, Dr. Day wanted the new website to easily and effectively educate visitors on the many breast, body, facial, and non-surgical aesthetic enhancement procedures available to them, in addition to providing thorough information about his expertise and experience in the field of plastic surgery.

Through collaboration with San Diego-based plastic surgery website design firm Rosemont Media, LLC, Dr. Day's newly launched website features:

- A Sleek and Responsive Design – Dr. Day's new website includes easy navigation and multi-device viewing capabilities, as well as a sleek, streamlined layout.
- Warm, Neutral Colors – The new site showcases warm, neutral colors that evoke a light, bright feeling. Additionally, images of Corvallis reiterate Dr. Day's connection to the local community.
- Updated SEO – The SEO for the website was updated to help it rank competitively for highly searched keywords, which can help viewers find the information offered by the practice more easily on the worldwide web.

Dr. Day's website includes comprehensive information on the surgical and non-surgical treatments available to patients who visit his practice, including breast reconstruction, abdominoplasty, breast augmentation, and more. Each page describing procedures is designed to give readers a broad overview of topics relating to treatments for which they may be interested, with multiple options for contacting the practice to obtain more information or to schedule a consultation.

Additionally, the new website highlights patient testimonials and the practice's overall philosophy of care, which expands on the concept of the "beautiful normal." Dr. Day ultimately wanted his practice's website to reflect the comprehensive approach to care patients can receive at Brighter Day Cosmetic and Reconstructive Surgery. By showcasing extensively detailed procedural information and emphasizing the compassion and attentiveness Dr. Day and his team strive to provide to all patients, the website becomes a digital representation of what individuals can expect when they walk through the practice's doors.
