

Hawaii Medical College Names New Executive Director

Zachary Oliver is now the college's Executive Director

HONOLULU, HI, UNITED STATES, November 7, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hawaii Medical College (HMC) has promoted Dr. Zachary Oliver to Executive Director of Hawaii Medical College as of October 1, 2024. He had been the Director of Education for the past 2 years.

Prior to joining Hawaii Medical College, Dr. Oliver worked as a consultant for small businesses in Hawaii. As a result of this work, he witnessed many of the problems that businesses in Hawaii face in finding and retaining well-trained staff, especially in the healthcare sector that requires specialized knowledge and skills.

For the more than 20 years prior to joining HMC, Dr. Oliver served as a professor and academic administrator helping and mentoring undergraduate and graduate students working through their degree programs. Throughout, he's worked in senior leadership roles to help establish a culture of coaching and mentoring supporting strong, sustained organizational performance through rigorous dedication to continuous improvement.

Hawaii Medical College is thrilled to have Zachary Oliver as its Executive Director. Our student body, other staff members and our Hawaii healthcare community will benefit from his dedication.”

Ashton Cudjoe, Founder of Hawaii Medical College

Dr. Oliver brings a wealth of knowledge and dedication in helping students achieve their goals. In each of his roles, he has helped to instill a "champion's mindset" to help the individuals he works with to maintain their focus and overcome the internal challenges that block the successful achievement of goals.

“Hawaii Medical College is thrilled to have Zachary Oliver as its Executive Director,” stated Ashton Cudjoe, Founder of Hawaii Medical College. “Our student body, other staff members and our Hawaii healthcare community will benefit from his dedication.”

Dr. Oliver will be leading the college as it deepens its service to our community and expands the college's program offerings in the coming years.
