Home for the Holidays cover art

Founded in 2008 by combat-wounded Veterans John Gallina and the late Dale Beatty, the Statesville, NC-based organization serves Veterans of all service eras throughout the continental U.S., Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Gallina and Beatty were inspired to pay it forward to other Veterans after the local community rallied to build Beatty, who returned home a double amputee, a new, accessible home so he could live with comfort, dignity and independence in his own home. Witnessing the number of forgotten Vietnam era Veterans volunteering on the project, Beatty and Gallina committed to ensuring no Veteran would be left behind.

We have tracks donated from Denny Jiosa, Patsy O'Brien, Alex DeGrassi, George Marinelli, Randal Bays, Terry Robb, Dan Evans, Vince Martell, Elgin Foster, Peter Janson, Muriel Anderson, Joshua Ray Hudson, Tim Sparks, PK Mayo, Steve Orchard, Erik Wóllo, Peter Thoms, Doug Smith, Eric

Tingstad and Nancy Rumbel, and the legendary Doyle Dykes.

The album features:

- 20 artists
- 3 Grammy Award Winners
- 5 Grammy nominees
- 12 different guitar playing awards
- Guitarists from Norway, The UK and the USA

Some of the songs included:

- Angels We Have Heard on High
- Joy to the World
- The Sheep under the Snow
- Oh Holy Night
- Away in the Manger
- Good King Wenceslas
- Ding Dong Merrily on High

The album title comes from a quote in John Gallina's book, Wounded Homecoming. "To a veteran home means everything. To a veteran home is a sanctuary. Every community plays in welcoming home our military, America is home."

The album is being distributed throughout North America by MVD Entertainment Group (www.mvdshop.com)
