The donation will directly support veterans' trips through Honor Flight of Southern Colorado (HFSOCO), a regional hub of the national Honor Flight Network. HFSOCO provides three-day, all-expense-paid trips to Washington, D.C. for veterans from the Southern Colorado area, allowing them to experience these memorials alongside fellow service members who share similar histories. The Honor Flight experience offers these veterans time to remember and honor those who didn't make it home, and for many, it can be a moment to finally feel the appreciation they've long deserved.

Fenix Lighting is proud to support Honor Flight Network's mission. This partnership is one way for the company to express its deep gratitude to those who have served. By supporting Honor Flight, Fenix aims to not only help veterans visit these memorials but to foster moments of connection and reflection for those who have given so much to their country.
