Serving as a significant expansion, the increased support that has quickly increased from 250 to 600+ packages underscores TuxCare's commitment to providing comprehensive services for organizations around the world still using the CentOS 7 operating system.

CentOS 7 reached its end of life on June 30, 2024, leaving many organizations uncertain about the future of their CentOS 7 systems. Stepping in to fill this gap, TuxCare offers security patches and expert technical support for as long as organizations need them. Hundreds of customers have already signed up for TuxCare's ELS for CentOS 7, and with support now offered for hundreds of more packages, an ever-increasing number of organizations can turn to TuxCare for peace of mind.

"The CentOS 7 operating system enjoys massive popularity, and we understand the challenges organizations face when such a system reaches its end of life," said Michael Canavan, Chief Revenue Officer at TuxCare. "Our goal with this update is to ensure that we can meet the diverse needs of these organizations. By expanding our support to over 600 packages, we are extending the life of CentOS 7 systems while also helping organizations maintain their operational efficiency and security – a highly valued ability by both administrators and C-level executives alike."
