and mission to provide top-quality multifamily buildings. EDI's team of skilled engineers and consultants has been instrumental in completing numerous successful projects in North America and beyond. As respected firms in the structural engineering space, they are recognized for their commitment to safety, efficiency, and design excellence.

EDI International has been celebrated for its work in high-rise residential structures, mixed-use developments, and sustainable building designs. Their accolades include awards from the American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC) and recognition from industry publications for its contributions to architectural innovation and sustainable practices. These distinctions underscore EDI's leadership and commitment to excellence, positioning them as an asset to SCDC's determined development goals. Notable projects completed by EDI include contributions to the design of several large-scale urban developments across Texas, including projects in Houston's metropolitan area. EDI is ranked as one of the largest and best architecture firms in the multifamily sector.

"EDI International is gratified by the confidence that SCDC has shown by hiring us, and we look forward to providing them with our multifamily services for their innovative and transformative projects." - Brit Perkins, AIA LEED AP BD+C "Being able to find and engage EDI International for their architectural expertise for our Cheerful Creek Court and other projects is truly a blessing for SCDC. We believe that together our companies will produce extraordinary results for years to come." - Odell Abdur-Raheem - Founder SCDC

Together, SCDC and EDI International will deliver an elevated standard in multifamily housing, enhancing both the aesthetic and functional landscape while catering to the needs of modern urban communities. This collaboration reflects SCDC's dedication to transforming the multifamily industry with innovative, sustainable developments that prioritize quality and value for residents and stakeholders alike.
