EINPresswire.com/ -- Book Bale, a new eBook platform with a groundbreaking vision for the literary world, has shattered its initial Kickstarter funding goal within just 26 hours. 60% of all membership fees go directly to partners listing books on the platform, thus creators who bring these stories to life get the majority of membership fees we collect. This commitment makes Book Bale a game-changer, creating a sustainable and respectful model that values authors as essential partners in the platform's success.

Imagine a place where reading goes beyond the page—Book Bale will offer live author Q&As, virtual book clubs, behind-the-scenes insights, and more. Readers will get the chance to connect personally with the minds behind their favorite works, while authors gain a platform that honors their creativity and voice.

“Book Bale isn't just another reading service,” says Shahid Mahmud, founder of Book Bale. “It's a home for people who love stories and want a direct connection to the authors who inspire them. Unlike other platforms, we're serious about fair revenue sharing, putting a minimum of 60% of all collected membership fees directly into creators' hands. We're building something that celebrates the art of storytelling—and that champions the creators behind every book."

With the first stretch goal within reach, Book Bale plans to add even more ways for readers and authors to engage in meaningful dialogue, creating a digital space that feels like a real community. This campaign has already drawn some of the biggest names in science fiction, fantasy, and beyond, with a robust collection of titles available for a low monthly fee.
