StrixStudio, a 3500 sq. ft. flex space including a 20 x 20 ft. cyclorama wall, dedicated photo studio, green room for talent preparation, and a kitchen set

The new 3500 sq. ft. StrixStudios is a flexible, professional environment featuring a 20 x 20 ft. cyclorama wall, dedicated photo studio, green room for talent preparation, and a kitchen set for lifestyle shoots. StrixStudios is equipped to handle productions ranging from social media campaigns, livestreams to full commercial shoots.

“StrixStudios has been a pipedream for years. We’ve been looking for a versatile space that offers high-level professionalism for any type of production. When we couldn’t find it, we started planning to open it ourselves, with intentions of making it accessible to the 2.5k members of our group, and the industry at-large” said Dan Gianfrancesco, founder of StrixMedia.

Zack Ryan, co-founder of StrixMedia, added, “Our goal has always been to make high-quality content creation accessible. StrixStudios gives creatives and agencies the tools and space they need to execute their vision, whether they’re shooting a small-scale project or something more complex.”

The studio is now open and ready to support creative projects of all scopes. Tours available upon request.
